Development Bank Management Program

Level 2 of ADFIAP Career Credentialing Program (ACCP)

Dec 1 to 12, 2008 <> AIM Conference Center, Makati City, Philippines <> 9:00 am to 4:30 pm

This 2-week program is the specialization portion for Level II and intended for candidates who have attended the Core Development Banking Program (Level I). However, participants who are not candidates to the credentialing program can also attend the course on stand-alone basis. This course is relevant for participants from development banks and other development financing institutions. It is also relevant for officials from commercial banks with development finance portfolio.

The general objective of the course is to enhance the managerial and technical capabilities of middle management level personnel with focus on development banking. In particular the course is designed to equip participants with the understanding of corporate banking management including corporate finance, marketing management, good governance, and peoples management. At the end of the course, the participants will be able to recognize the vital responsibilities of a manager and conceptualize an effective organization.
