Association of Development Financing Institutions in Asia and the Pacific
(ADFIAP)

STRATEGIC PLAN (2005-2009)

“More focused and prepared to lead”

I. Executive Summary

The Association of Development Financing Institutions in Asia and the Pacific (ADFIAP) is the focal point of and advocate for the development banking and finance community in the region. Founded in 1976, ADFIAP represents over 80 development finance institutions (DFIs), development banks, and other financial institutions engaged in the financing of development in 37 countries across continental Asia and the Pacific.

During the recent months, ADFIAP, led by its Board of Directors, engaged in a participative strategic planning process. The planning process was intensive, introspective and self-critical. ADFIAP revisited and changed its mission and benchmarked it against comparable associations. Candid discussions were held with the Board and the Secretariat to assess the future leadership and advocacy role of ADFIAP and the needs of its members.

Throughout this process, the message was clear and consistent: “ADFIAP must become an exemplary association, with sustainable development as an advocacy and with member services that are central to all activities.”

The Board of Directors of ADFIAP heard the message and has developed a five-year plan designed to transform ADFIAP into a full-service international association that is open and responsive to the collective interests of its members, constituents and partners. This 2005-2009 Strategic Plan is the product of that message.

Throughout the planning process, five (5) strategic directions have guided the goals and strategies set forth in this Plan for the next five years:

- Association Membership Development
- Policy Development and Advocacy
- Resource Development and Innovation
- Human Capital Development, Professional Standards and Education
- Support of ADFIAP-affiliated National and Sub-regional DFI Associations and Counterpart Regional Associations Worldwide

Success in accomplishing the goals of this Plan will be measured by the extent to which ADFIAP can:

- substantially increase the number of members reflecting the organizational diversity of financial institutions engaged in the financing of development

- effectively engage the diverse constituent interests of members and stakeholders in the governance, guidance and activities of the Association
- develop a high-quality package of Association services and group benefits that meets the needs of the membership
- serve as the leading convenor for exploring and advancing the knowledge and interests of the development banking and finance sector
- initiate, promote and represent policy positions that support and strengthen the work of member-organizations and the development banking community
- significantly increase public and private funding sources for the core operations of the Association and its members
- promote human capital development programs that attract new talent to the field and expand the knowledge and skills of development banking practitioners and professionals
- facilitate the development of credentials and core competencies for development bankers and standards for the certification of DFIs that are widely-accepted and respected throughout the development banking community
- serve as the leading facilitator and provider of development banking training and technical assistance to DFIs and development banking practitioners, especially in the areas of human capital development, institutional partnerships, operations resource development and access to capital for economic development
- enhance, broker and expand technical assistance and training to strengthen the capacity of ADFIAP-affiliated national and sub-regional DFI associations as well counterpart regional associations in the world to support and advance sustainable development

To achieve and sustain this ambitious transformation, ADFIAP has adopted this Strategic Plan, and the accompanying Operating, Organizational and Resource Development Plans that will guide its phased implementation over the next five years. These mission-driven plans will guide the restructuring of the organization; the reconfiguration of staff; and the development of a broad, sustainable funding base for the Association.

Not all recommendations received during the planning process were able to be included in the Strategic Plan and its companion plans. Some desired outcomes, such as a wide-ranging intra-country investments and business deals among members, will require additional work and consideration of fundamental changes not within the scope of this process. It is nevertheless the commitment of ADFIAP to continue work during the transition period ahead to identify areas of change necessary to fully realize the goals of this 2005-2009 Strategic Plan.

The completion of this strategic planning process heralds a new ADFIAP – more focused and prepared to lead. As development financing in the region enters its sixth decade, ADFIAP is committed to developing the capacity and the creativity to support and advance the work of DFIs and other financial institutions engaged in the financing of development toward meeting the objectives of the sustainable development agenda.

With this new mission, ADFIAP believes that it is addressing the twin aspects of its existence: (a) being continuously relevant to its members, constituents and partners, and (b) being in the mainstream of an ever-changing and dynamic global and national environment.
